Top companies around the globe have convened and experienced the difference.

Tesco PLC, United Kingdom

A FTSE 100 UK grocery retailer present in over 12 countries, Tesco is the market leader in the UK, the Republic of Ireland, and several Asian territories. With the retail giant looking to enhance its corporate governance and meeting process, Tesco PLC required a solution that would effectively carry out global meetings among its 300 directors and senior executives and enable them to make better informed business decisions.

With this objective, they looked to Convene to provide the solution. After undergoing 3 months of careful evaluation, Convene was green lighted with its ease of use and seamless, multi-platform experience. Presently, we continue to work with its managers to further tailor our product to support Tesco's needs in the global retail industry.

DTE Energy, North America

A Fortune 500 company with a market cap of $14.25B, DTE serve more than 3.3 million customers in the US energy business, the Michigan-based utility corporation looked to Convene to provide paperless meetings technology to streamline their document management and collaboration process.

Working with DTE, Convene determined and deployed the appropriate technical architecture to support paperless meetings for its board and senior managers. Thanks to Convene's intuitive user experience, transition and learning were very quick for its managers.

We know there are reasons people choose not to consider Convene and go paperless. May we set the records straight?

“Paper works for us, why go through the hassle of switching?”

Yes, paper is good. There are even occasions we print documents ourselves. That’s why we’ve made Convene as easy to use as paper, but with added benefits. Not a single company has ever gone back to paper once they started using Convene. We think that says something.

“Our board won’t like it.”

Convene’s intuitive navigation is as easy to use as a brilliantly designed iPad app. No special training is needed, once your directors start using it, we’re confident they won’t want to go back to paper.
