Why Companies Choose Toolyt

Say goodbye to Proxy or A snap a day keeps your worries away

Mornings can be stressful everyday when your team does not mark attendance in office at sharp 9 am. While you assume they have started their day, most play hooky as they are out on the field. With no way to know if they truly on a sales call, you have based your assumptions on trust. Toolyt ends this daily misery and with its smart attendance marker - your team has to report on time with a selfie! And interestingly the app enables offline login and logout too, so no more excuses of 'not in wi-fi zone' or 'internet is down', we have made you a smart manager already.

Smart lead generation

Toolyt helps you fetch social profiles of your clients and all related information about the company you want to pitch. You can then assign the lead to one of your team members, track status, add notes and keep your hold on it till closure. No more being in the dark after you've assigned a lead, you can manage each sales executive remotely.

No more tedious paperwork

A lot of precious man hours get wasted in boring paperwork. But then you have to scrutinize every expense statement, bills, match them with their reports to ensure accuracy and accountability. Documents are never submitted on time and fatigue on field work becomes an excuse. Now with Toolyt expense tracking, claim, approval, reporting happens on the go. Your executive has to just take picture of bills, submit on a template that you can access and approve.
